FORWARD

I am pleased to share this Annual Report 2010, the year which experienced devastated flood in the River Indus. The flood ruined the rural community infrastructure, damaged economy, livelihood sources with displacement of around 1.7 million people. Many of the flood victims are still living a deplorable life in different areas, as they could not move back to their native villages due to various reasons. The affected communities despite receiving quick response from national and international NGOs they have adopted dependency, waiting for the humanitarian support from government and local humanitarian organizations. They are in urgent need to recover their livelihoods and rehabilitate damaged community infrastructure through integrated approach. SCF believing in the community participation has planned to implement early recovery and rehabilitation programs in the flood affected areas, mainly in Jamshoro and Tando Mohammed Khan districts.

This year was very effective and better for the SCF to be grown as an effective organization for sustainable development and social justice. It got institutional strength in terms of financial, reporting and operational management systems. SCF through introducing innovative ideas in development initiative has achieved a task to be the most active advocacy organization for women's human rights in the province.

We have provided trainings to a large number of girls about human and physical resources to initiate advocacy for rights of marginalised segments of the society and implement specifically girls' empowerment projects. We have expanded our outreach to the rural communities in the districts, Matiari, Tando Mohammed Khan and Jamshoro. After getting institutional growth SCF has received grants from other partners, like Commonwealth Foundation for Leadership for Human Rights and Democracy, Urgent Action Fund for women's human rights.

The organization has also coordinated with other donors for working on women rights activism and skill-development initiatives for youth in the province of Sindh. This strength SCF got because of the initial funding of Mama Cash for the proposed grant. Publication of profile of organization was also shared with the other organizations.

SCF is keen to improve the lives of the people in the Sindh province through adopting participatory approach and hopefully this journey will continue until our interventions lay social change in the society.

ORGANIZATIONAL BACKGROUND

Sindh Community Foundation (SCF) was formed by some young and committed human rights and social workers of Hala and Hyderabad in January 2001 for improving the socio-economic conditions of rural communities and neglected segments of society, specially youth and women. It started working with small level charity actions, including holding free blood grouping and medical camps and slowly shifted to strategic interventions towards sustainable development. It devised comprehensive strategy ranging from social mobilization, training and capacity building, linkages building with resource providers /government line agencies, in collaboration with other CSOs and like-minded NGOs to boost advocacy campaign on various issues. SCF has strengthened its capacity further this year 2010; it got funds from other donors to implement its planned and proposed interventions for youth development, girls' empowerment, climate change, environmental justice and women rights. Through this way its capacity of program planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation and human resource has increased and become more effective organization. HUMANITARIAN RESPONSE

FLOOD-2010

The River Indus flood-2010 started hitting hard Sindh province on August 7, 2010. The fears of displacement and loss of livelihood resources gripped the entire province, right from Kashmore district, bordering Punjab province to tail end Badin and Thatta districts. The flood displaced around 1.7 million people, causing damages to infrastructure and economy loss, and after one year the people could not heal up the wounds of displacement. In this difficult time like other organizations, SCF also took active part in the relief, early recovery and later rehabilitation activities to benefit the flood-affected communities in Jamshoro, Thatta and Matiari districts where SCF had already launched its development programs. Mobile health clinics with medicines and qualified doctors, para medics, providing food and non-food items and initiating early recovery initiatives to help the people resume their livelihood activities on their own.

Disaster Management & Emergency Response

SCF responded effectively to this emergency, pooled an amount of Rs.100,000 immediately and developed Sindh Disaster Response Program. SCF utilized the pooled fund donated by local philanthropists and the Mama Cash, one of the donors which allowed SCF to divert some amount of its grant to prompt response to the disaster. SCF set up Disaster Management Unit in the organization to respond relief and rehabilitation work in well manner. SCF conducted initial vulnerability assessment in Thatta and Jamshoro Districts and provide support to 5020 flood affected families.

CASE STUDY

(Story of Ms. Jamal)

The tale of Ms. Jamal Zardari W/O Rustam, residing in village Sono Khan Zardari located on the riverine Katcha area of Union Council Manjhand, District Jamshoro is enough to understand the plight of displaced people. The flood washed away her house, pushing her to live in a shelter with 15-member family. Her husband being a farmer is living idle, as the field still has been inundated. Due to floods the whole family shifted to the hilly areas to protect themselves. Since they did not have access to get food they faced difficult situation, specially her children got ill several times because they could not fulfill their nutritional needs there. Now they have returned to their native place but their access to food declined as many NGOs stopped assistance with food. After their returning back SCF reached them for help. The assessment team found the family malnourished. She explained her haunting experience of displacement due to floods and requested for food as she had larger family. She had more to say about the negligence of the government. However, SCF provided food assistance to the family in the first week of Dec, 2010. After few days she accredited SCF, which extended helping hand with provision of food with the support of WFP. She was briefed about the usage of plumpy doze and High energy biscuit. After that SCF assessed the situation of the beneficiaries, who received food, and found that children were looking very active as compared to earlier, when they were in dire need of food stuff. "Now at least we can survive as water is receding and we may start cultivation or my husband may do some job or work on daily wages".

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM AND SOCIAL MOBILIZATION

SCF has been engaged with rural communities to mobilize them for collective actions for their village development. SCF interacted this year (2010) with 30 villages of Taluka [sub-district] Manjhand and Kotri of District Jamshoro and 12 villages of Taluka Hala of District Matiari and conducted 100 mobilization meetings with a baseline survey. These villages are located in riverine forest areas. Separate meetings were arranged with female in these villages. The aim of these meetings was to educate rural communities about the environmental degradation and effects of climate change. SCF has designed integrated community development program, including social mobilization, providing access to safe drinking water, sustainable water management, food security program, access to health and education facilities and improving rural livelihood. SCF coordinated these groups in the time of flood and made smooth food distribution process in the affected villages of Jamshoro. Then early recovery and rehabilitation program in consultation with the community groups was launched in the district. In this regard various donors approached SCF to implement the integrated development in the flood affected areas to help them resume social and economical activities.

Achievements

Mobilization meetings conducted	100
Villages covered	42
Community groups formed	10
Males participated	240
Females	170
Total people participated	562

Social mobilization is core approach of SCF to implement all its intervention in well manner with the maximum participation and got them realized to have a sense of ownership in the entire development process

WOMEN DEVELOPMENT & GIRLS EMPOWERMENT

Women and girls are being considered marginalized group in Pakistani society. Silent majority of women does not have any role to play in development process. Very few actions are taken at state level, specifically for women development. One of the major reasons to slight growth of country in Human Development Index (HDI) is because majority of the population comprised on women, who are not being allowed to utilize their potential in economic activities. SCF has addressed women development issues time to time through provisions of space for income opportunities, leadership training and skills development. Under this program, SCF implemented girls' empowerment project in Tando Muhammad Khan supported by Mama Cash Netherlands. The project achieved all its set targets, putting significant impact on the community women's lives.

GIRLS RESOURCE CENTRE

Under this program Girls Resource Center (GRC) was established to provide space to girls so they may acquire IT skills. Apart from this, confidence building initiatives were taken through discussing and understanding various social issues to groom their confidence level.

It is a unique idea that girls get trainings on various social issues, read books and avail library facility there. GRC management is being run by four-member committee. Girls formed Moomal Development Organization which is looking after the Centre and promoting girls and women activism in the area.

GRC got publicity among the girls of other areas because of the free and secure environment for learners with female teachers and administrative staff available for their counselling. Girls approached GRC for computer training as they felt more secure at this centre. They can easily express their ideas and learn without any pressure of male colleagues. Their confidence made them ease to discuss various social issues even at personal and family level. Social behaviour and rigidity of the targeted communities do not allow trained girls for doing jobs so that their number with jobs is lower as compared to proposed one. The other reason was unavailability of job opportunities within city market like Hyderabad, which is 40 km away from Tando Muhammad Khan town.

The organization used strategy to invite parents in meetings, held awareness sessions and programs like seminars to build their trust that their girls are working in safe environment. This approach got success to achieve the objectives. Door to door meetings were conducted as a tool for community mobilization and familiarization with local communities to permitting their girls for computer education at GRC. GRC also attracted other organizations for holding workshops, meetings for girls and women there. Media covered the centre for its role in the neglected area, providing access to girls. SCF has planned to replicate this model in 03 more districts of Sindh province. In this regard it has shared the proposal to different local and intentional donors and government also.

Overall progress of project :

Girls received basic computer skills	119
Girls Trained on Girls Social Education and Leadership Program (6 workshops)	30
Girls attended career planning (5 sessions)	99
Girls and women attended seminars on Importance of IT for girls and Human rights and state of Women rights in Pakistan	125
Girls and women sensitized on women issues, human rights, climate change and anti-sexual harassment legislation	1000

FORMATION OF GIRLS ASSOCIATION

The organization led a campaign of importance of girls' education, held door to door meetings with parents. It has also compiled a data with situational analysis about the closed schools in the area, UC 2 Tando Muhammad Khan. Girls association respond promptly to the flood-2010 in Sindh, which affected 20 villages in Tando Muhammad Khan district. A large number of IDPs hailing from Thatta district shifted to relief camps set up in Tando Muhammad Khan. Girls association set up relief camp, collected food and non food item for IDPs and distributed among 125 IDPs there. It was first time that girls came out from their homes and motivated people of the area for helping flood affected families. Girls association also linked IDPs with government department for food and other support. This is the outcome of SCF initiative to develop confidence among the girls belonging to neglected families.

Girls association also coordinated poor women with Benazir Income Support Program [a nationwide financial support program for women with the name of slain Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) Chairperson and former prime minister Benazir Bhutto] at district level. A theatre group, The struggle group was formed by daring girls in which they portray women issues, mostly in seminars and social gatherings

CAREER PLANNING SESSIONS

During the report period 05 career planning sessions were arranged, in which 99 girls participated. Experts of the field were invited to deliver lectures. The girls get interest in higher education, those who don't have information about career development were encouraged to come forward and face the current challenges of job market and play their role in social development. 20 girls are following their plans, 5 girls chosen subjects of their interest at University level and 05 other girls appeared in examinations as external students.

SCF offers little support to deserving girls to fulfil their educational needs. This opportunity we got in a project of Youth Empowerment in slums areas of Hyderabad, where we supported 5 girls with small amount for getting admission in higher education, for books and other educational material.

During the counselling to hunt job 10 girls were selected for exposure visit to University of Sindh, Jamshoro where they visited various departments, got information about subjects of social science. They were informed about entry test procedures and how to get admission. This activity inspired girls a lot and they decided to continue their education so they may reach university, as their ratio is very low in the area where project was being implemented. There is need to introduce girls to other educational, policy making institutions regularly so they may get

NEWSLETTER

Expression of girls on various social issues was supported and encouraged through quarterly newsletters in Sindhi language Aurt Awaz. This newsletter carries gender, human rights, anti-sexual harassment legislation, climate change and flood effects. Girl's articles placed in newsletter on the issues which is helpful to promote girls rights to freedom of speeches. Project activities were also highlighted in the newsletter.

Two seminars on state of women rights in Pakistan and Importance of Information technology (IT) for girls were organised, which attracted 250 girls and women. Speakers from the fields of social development, women rights and human rights spoke on the occasion. The strategy was to initiate a debate on the issues, which usually is not encouraged in formal educational institutes.

HUMAN RIGHTS EDUCATION

Situation of human rights in Pakistan is the most serious in the entire Asian region, impacting regional and international peace and security. Pakistan has very bad score of human rights. Women, rural communities, youth and minorities are being denied of their basic rights. The strong feudal and patriarchal social fabric of Sindh province has left worst effects on the lives of people. Honor killing, domestic violence, tribal conflicts are evidences of violation of human rights. SCF since its inception has been engaged in human rights, working through advocating human and women rights at grassroots level.

COURSE ON YOUTH LEADERSHIP FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

SCF has designed 10-Day Course on Youth Leadership for Human rights and Democracy under the human rights program. It has successfully received a small grant from Commonwealth Foundation under its civil society responsive grant program for holding 1st Youth Leadership course. The objective of the course is to create broader understanding of various themes of human rights and democracy and groom their leadership capacity to work as young human rights activist or educator in their respective areas. This course will be arranged every year. Initially, it was planned to be held in August, 2010 but due to flood emergency in the country it was postponed and now again is being planned to be held in March, 2011. In this course 40 young activists across the four provinces of Pakistan will participate. The selection of participants has been done. While Human rights training workshops were arranged under the Girls Leadership Programs and Youth Leadership programs. As SCF strongly believes in rights based approach, it applies this approach in its interventions. SCF has designed and submitted projects to the potential donor for women rights, human rights education for youth and rural women. In this regard a concept note has been approved by Foundation for Future for one year project and the assessment delegation has visited SCF. A similar project on women's economic rights has also been submitted to the Global Fund for Human rights and the delegation of assessment has visited SCF and had a meeting with it's staff. SCF is hopeful to receive grant for the submitted proposals.

INSTITUTIONAL SUPPORT

SCF received institutional support of security equipments from Forint Line Human Rights Defenders Foundation to improve its organizational capacity to work smoothly for human rights.

ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE & CLIMATE CHANGE

Pakistan is confronting severe environmental degradation and climate change effects. SCF has taken environmental problems into account and designed comprehensive programs to mitigate the environmental degradation and climate change effects through action research, capacity building and awareness campaigning in Sindh province.

Socio-Economic Impact of Deforestation Research and Campaigning

SCF completed successfully the action research project of socio-economic impact of deforestation in District Matiari, which had a long strip of dense forest and now almost 90% forest cover has been depleted. The forest was a sole source of livelihood dependency for the forest communities, mostly herdsmen. Keeping this miserable situation in mind, SCF decided to conduct research and after its findings an awareness campaign was launched involving the community actors in the district. This project was supported by UNEP-EPLC. In this regard this year following progress was made.

Meetings were arranged with the relevant stakeholders, aiming to collect secondary data about the response of the Provincial Forest department, local NGOs and INGO in the area regarding forest management in riverine area. These meetings provided a much clearer picture and analysis of the state of forest and effectiveness of the interventions related to forest management.

Survey covered 12 villages near Salaro Forest in Union Council Hala Old of District Matiari. Two types of survey forms/questionnaires-- one for household survey and second for the village survey to analyze the worst effects of deforestation -- were developed and tested through one-day pre-test in village Khanoth. A four-member survey team was hired for four days in 12 villages. The team was given orientation on filling household and village survey forms correctly. Pre-test of the household survey form was conducted in village Khanoth, located close to the forest to remove the gaps. Survey forms were made in relevance to the forest-related questions from the individual. Ten households were interviewed in each village. Total 120 households were surveyed and 120 community members (60 males and 60 females) were interviewed.

FOCUS GROUP DISCUSSIONS [FGDs]

12 focus group discussions (FGDs) were conducted in each village where survey was carried out. The effects of forest-- pre and post situation of the household economically, environmentally and health-- were the focus questions of the FGD. In each FGD 25-30 villagers participated. A Total number of 322 community members [217 male and 83 female] attended these FGDs.

Total No of Male participants	Total Number of Female participants	Total participants	Total No of FGD
217	83	322	12

For female due to gender restriction and social and cultural barrier separate FGDs were conducted in each village. Mr. Javed Hussain, focal person for the activity support, facilitated these FGDs.

Following are the findings of FGDs:

90% forest area has been depleted in Salaro riverine forest area and forest land has been converted into agriculture lands

Livelihoods for the local forest communities declined. More than 50% of income the people spend to get fuel, as 10 years back they had access to collect wood from the forest

Women are pushed to poverty because they don't have involvement in any economic activity. Earlier, they used to collect herbal plants, fodder and honey from the forest for local markets, generating income.

Remaining forest land is under the control of local influential landlords, who enjoy backing of local administration. Therefore, implication of law is invisible to protect forest

Local inhabitants due to deforestation and control of outsider landlords are forced to shift to other areas, finding alternative source of income, mostly working on daily wages

60% forest is being depleted by the state-backed mechanism, corruption and less attention of forest department.

5% people have been forced to migrate after losing the source of livelihood from village Sukhpur, as 20 families moved to a nearby Hala Old town

10% tree cutting by the community and 20% by influential persons, is said to be one of the major reasons of the deforestation

Deforestation has increased environmental warming and contributed the climate change effects on local ecology and human.

10% poverty increased among local people due to deforestation.

FORMATION OF FOREST MANAGEMENT COMMITTEES

Four Forest Management Committees (MFCs) have been formed in the result of Focus Group Discussions in 4 villages:

1. Khanoth
2. Mateewal
3. Wado Salaro
4. Sukhio Mirjat

Each MFC is comprised on 5-7 members including at least two women. Two members from each committee will be trained on sustainable forest management

RESEARCH REPORT ON IMPACT OF DEFORESTATION

Research reports based on the findings and observation of the study, literature review has been finalized and translated into Sindhi language and bilingual version of the study has been processed for publication. The copy of the study will be disseminated to the policy makers, CSOs, environmental organizations /activist, researchers, research institutes and universities in

TRAINING WORKSHOP FOR COMMUNITY LEADERS ON SUSTAINABLE FOREST MANAGEMENT

One- day training workshop on sustainable forest management for community leaders was conducted on 30th July 2010 at Hala Old, a small town in the riverine area of the proposed project /research. The workshop attracted 24 members of FMC. Mr. Javed Hussain took the training session. The topic covered in the training include: state of existing forest, issues and threats to human lives, ecology and environment degradation level, biodiversity, effects on household economy and climate change, forest management, monitoring, tree plantation and sowing of trees. Participants were engaged in group exercises and got this training very beneficial for managing forest.

PUBLICATION AND DISSEMINATION OF POSTERS ON REFORESTATION

SCF published 500 posters and 500 pamphlets on forest situation to sensitize the people regarding worst impacts of deforestation, illegal cuttings of trees and benefits of the forestation which were disseminated among children, youth, NGOs and general public. The poster portrayed a person who is cutting trees and there is sentence 'Do not cut tree'. ADVOCACY & RESEARCH

Awareness Campaign on Anti-sexual Harassment Legislation, Women Protection Act 2010

Under the advocacy program SCF launched awareness-raising campaign on the currently passed anti sexual harassment legislation at workplace. The President of Pakistan signed Protection Bill against Harassment of Women at Workplace Act, 2010. It is high time that a note should be written on what sexual harassment is at workplace. Sexual harassment is rampant in both government and private sector offices; even the MNCs are not exempted from this.

There is need to educate employees on the consequences of their actions and start the counseling from top level executives to male teachers and students, so they may guide how they should treat and advise their employees and teachers to behave while in the class or at institutes.

HR personnel are there for a reason. They cease to exist if they don't perform their function well. They are professionals and should guide all executives on the consequences of sexually harassing women students and employees. If she complains, the company could be fined by the courts and also the media is very active these days. Hope this Bill would lead to a better working environment and safety for the female employees working in Pakistan. The bill fully protects the women to get justice while any incident of harassment occurred. There is also need to educate and aware University girls on the bill through conducting trainings, workshops and awareness seminars, because they don't have knowledge about the legal aspect of this bill. There is need to sensitize the male students and teachers through publications dissemination, translated version of the bill in the Sindhi language.

For this purpose three-day long Training of Trainers-TOT was conducted, in which 90 girls studying in various departments of Sindh University were given orientation on the legal aspects of this act and over all women and human rights. Resource persons/experts in the field of legal rights, human rights and women rights were invited. Advocates shared the information with the participants about the background of the act and its application, legal procedures and justice mechanisms. At the end of TOT workshops, a Girls association was formed in the result of long discussion. The GA joined initially by 30 girl participants and has got membership of 60 girls who were trained by TOT workshops. Temporary body was selected for six months, comprising one organizer, information secretary and 05 members of executive body. The GA provided space of one room for their working at SCF office. The GA held two meetings, in which they designed action plan for six months. GA has played active role in monitoring of the incidents of sexual harassment and took awareness campaign in University and other areas. They helped in organizing 10 seminars for male and female members, masses on the act. The active 10 potential trainers of TOT workshop facilitated these seminars and shared information and importance of the Women Protection Act 2010. These seminars were attended by 1100 participants, 400 male and 700 female. During the process 3000 copies of the women protection act translated in to Sindhi language were distributed to sensitize and educate the general masses, university teachers, students, NGOs and CBOS activists. Theaters were performed on the existing forms of sexual harassment to condemn the action and raise awareness.
